

SECOND IPB WORLD PEACE CONGRESS: BARCELONA 2021

STRONGER TOGETHER, BUILDING
BACK BETTER FOR INCLUSIVE PEACE
OCTOBER 15-17 2021
LOCATION TBD

Barcelona Programme Draft 1 – 24 November 2020

Message from IPB

Five years after our 2016 Berlin Congress, “Disarm! For a Climate of Peace”, the International Peace Bureau is proud to host the Second IPB World Peace Congress, “Stronger Together for Peace” in the Mediterranean city of Barcelona. Our goal is to bring together vast swaths of civil society – from peace and disarmament movements to human and trade union rights campaigners, environmental activists, and social movements – to generate a unified response to the anxiety of the current crises.

We have a planetary crisis: a world in which confrontational policies have replaced international cooperation on issues ranging from arms control and common security to climate change, democratic institutions, and health emergencies – most notably the Covid-19 pandemic. Only by coming together can we address these interlinked and overlapping problems that threaten us all; therefore, our gathering aims not only to bring these groups together, but to envision shared policy solutions that can serve as a call to action for social movements and decision makers at the global, regional, national, and local levels.

At the center of these policy proposals comes the idea of ‘building back better for peace’. The Covid-19 crisis has made clearer than ever the costs of returning to the status quo and the necessity to create a better system – one that promotes equality, addresses the existential threat of climate change, and understands the need for true security, not the faux security of yearly increases in military spending at the cost of social services. We firmly believe that the only way to truly do so is to put peace at the center of the ‘new normal’.

As the Former German Chancellor Willy Brandt said, “Peace is not everything, but without peace, everything is nothing.” Climate change, growing inequality, the decline of democracy, and health crises all pose the threat of increasing global tensions and creating a more violent world. Nuclear weapons and great power conflicts risk the complete destruction of our planet. The Coronavirus pandemic poses another problem to peace: lockdowns and restrictions deprive activists of the resources and public platforms to conduct our activities and events for peace.

We are at a pivotal moment in history. We are in the middle of a second cold war. We are calling for the alternative to confrontation, for a politics of common security.

Stronger together for peace is our goal- We can continue on the track we’re on and endanger all life on Earth, or we can create a plan of action for a better world. We invite you to join us in the creation of this vision and to work together for its implementation.
